The Wisdom of the Serpent.

The serpent tempted the woman not because she was the weaker, but because she was the tender, not because of her subordination, but on account of her superiority. She was the stronghold of the fortress, and to win her was to win all. She held the key to the situation. She was the keeper of the castle. Where she led for good or evil the man would follow.

From a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kerr of Chicago.

Stock Fair Tuesday.

The regular monthly stock fair will be held in this city on Tuesday next, on which occasion it is expected that there will be a large number of farmers and others in attendance. The fair will be held on the west side market square and those who have anything to dispose of should be on hand.

Charles Daly wants five or six teams weighing not less than 1200, and there is also a great demand for little pigs. Several new milk cows are wanted, and the Peking plant will take all the stock of any kind that is in condition.

It is expected that there will be a lot of second hand furniture for sale on the square on fair day.

The Grand Rapids Brewing Company will give an eighth of beer to the farmer bringing in the largest number of empty kegs.

Manager John Bell says that if you want a house and lot in town to call on him, or would trade a house and lot for 50 acre farm.

Sawmill Starts Monday.

The E. W. Ellis Lumber Company expects to start their sawmill on Monday next. It was the intention to start last Monday, but owing to some work that had to be done it was necessary to wait another week. The company has enough logs in sight to occupy the mill for about eight months. The lumber is manufactured into such, doors and boxes at their plant in this city.

Married.

Miss Annie Abel and Ferdinand Holke were married on Thursday afternoon at the German Moravian church, Rev. Mellicke, officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Ida Holke and Martha Stein, while Henry and Chas. Abel acted as best men. The newly married couple went at once to housekeeping in their own home on 15th Ave. The Tribune joins with a host of friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

Started Improvements.

Ben. Hansen, with the aid of a team and a number of men have been busy this week digging things up on the river bank and leveling off the ground and seeding it down. It is evident that the appearance of things will be greatly improved when the work is completed.

A word to the wise is sufficient. Why not buy those goods you want at Timm & Briere's while the record-making prices prevail.

Thirst for Novelties.

The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the blight on our literature, our art, our drama, our music, even our morals. It is passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a more restless itch to get free from old habits and to go into something uncommon. It hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "uncommon."

Spot for Lady Godiva.

"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Swirls and puffs and braids and hats and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them. A building full of hair!"

Daysey's Exclusive Illness.

A sickness which attacked Daysey Mayne last week is said by her physician to be mumps. Mumps is exhaustion of the muscles in the arms and shoulders, due to carrying a very heavy muff. It is claimed by the family that she has the only case in the town.—Acheson Globe.

Must Advance or Recede.

No man or no nation can stand still. In a world where every form of life has grown out of a lower form, where one age builds on another, as the coral insect builds up the islands of the sea, nothing can be stationary.

One Conductor Who Was Cured.

Mr. Wilford Adams is his name, and he writes about it. "Some time ago I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect, and the third bottle put me on my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky. Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism."—Foley's Kidney Remedy cures rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. #### Elks Give a Good Show.

The minstrel show put on by the Elks at Daly's Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week was one of the best things of the kind that has ever been produced by home talent in this city.

The boys were greeted by good houses both evenings, and the audience were enthusiastic in both instances, and many of the choruses had to be repeated a second and third time in order to satisfy the crowd.

The second night the program was varied a little from that of the first and those who attended both performances reported that the second night was the best. All of the soloists in the chorus belong to the Elks, the only assistance they had being from the orchestra and band being in the band.

The latter being the parade on Wednesday. Some of the solos were exceptionally good, being rendered in a manner that would have done credit to a professional, while all of the choruses were very pleasing.

The boys put on a lot of hard work on the production and were entitled to the large attendance they received.

Removal Sale.

From now until the first of May I will sell all of my stock at greatly reduced prices. Fine line of bicycles, sundries, talking machines and toys.
Geo. F. Krueger & Co.

Death of Mrs. Edward Hansen.

Mrs. Edward Hansen died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Holstad, on Tuesday morning after an illness of about four weeks. Mrs. Hansen's home was at Sheridan Wis., but since being taken sick she has been in this city where she has been receiving medical treatment which, however, was of no avail.

Deceased is survived by her husband and parents as well as a number of brothers and sisters. She was thirty-five years of age and had made her home in this city until her marriage last year, and she has many friends here who will mourn her loss in a most sincere manner.

The funeral will occur on Friday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Newling to conduct the service.

Cemetery Meeting.

A meeting of the cemetery association was held on Saturday, April 24 at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Dr. Hengen.
First Vice—Mrs. E. W. Brown.
Second Vice—Mrs. Lina Corvonn.

Those who desire to pay their annual dues at this time.

Getting Rid of the Paper.

Joseph Cohen has recently installed in the basement of his store a press for baling the paper that accumulates in an institution of this sort. By this means a hundred and fifty pounds of waste paper can be pressed into a bale that takes up very little room, and when a sufficient quantity has accumulated it can be shipped to a paper or pulp mill where this sort of refuse is made use of. Other merchants who have been in the habit of throwing their waste onto the river bank will do well to follow Mr. Cohen's example.

Going to Stevens Point.

The Elks will take their minstrel show to Stevens Point this evening where they will put it on for the benefit of the Elks lodge of that city. The boys will make the trip to Stevens Point and return in automobiles.

Miss Annie Abel and Ferdinand Heise were married on Thursday afternoon at the German Moravian church, Rev. Mellicke, officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Ida Heise and Martha Stein, while Henry and Chas. Abel acted as best men. The newly married couple went at once to housekeeping in their own home on 13th Ave. The Tribune joins with a host of friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

Started Improvements.

Ben Hansen, with the aid of a team and a number of men have been busy this week digging things up on the river bank and leveling off the ground and seeding it down. It is evident that the appearance of things will be greatly improved when the work is completed.

Thirst for Novelties.

The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the bane of our literature, our art, our drama, our manners—our morals. It is a passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a mere restless itch to get free from old habits and to get into something uncommon, it hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "unconventional."

Spot for Lady Godiva.

"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Hair—hair! Puffs and braids and swirls and switches and curls and rats and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them." A building full of hair!

Dayey's Exclusive Illness.

A sickness which attacked Dayey Mayne last week is said by her physician to be mufitis. Mufitis is exhaustion of the muscles in the arms and shoulders, due to carrying a very heavy muf. It is claimed by the family that she has the only case in the town.—Atholton Globe.

Must Advance or Recede.

No man or no nation can stand still. In a world where every form of life has grown out of a lower form, where one age builds on another, as the coral insect builds up the islands of the sea, nothing can be stationary.

One Conductor Who Was Cured.

Mr. Wilford Adams has his name, and he writes about it. "Some time ago I was confined to my bed with chronic rheumatism. I used two bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy with good effect, and the terrible pain went from my feet and I resumed work as conductor on the Lexington, Ky., Street Railway. It gave me more relief than any medicine I had ever used, and it will do all you claim in cases of rheumatism." Foley's Kidney Remedy cures rheumatism by eliminating the uric acid from the blood. ### Elks Give a Good Show.

The minstrel show put on by the Elks at Daly's Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of last week was one of the best things of the kind that has ever been produced by home talent in this city.

The boys were greeted by good houses both evenings, and the audiences were enthusiastic in both instances, and many of the choruses had to be repeated a second and third time in order to satisfy the crowd.

The second night the program was varied a little bit from that of the first, and those who attended both performances reported that the second night was the best. All of the soloists and members of the chorus belong to the Elks, the only assistance they had being from the orchestra and band, the latter heading the parade on Wednesday. Some of the solos were exceptionally good, being rendered in a manner that would have done credit to a professional, while all of the choruses were very pleasing.

The boys put in a lot of hard work on the production and were entitled to the large attendance they received.

Removal Sale.

Death of Mrs. Edward Hansen.

Mrs. Edward Hansen died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Rowland, on Tuesday morning after an illness of about four weeks. Mrs. Hansen's home was at Sheridan, Wis., but since being taken sick she has been in this city where she has been receiving medical treatment, which, however, was of no avail.

Deceased is survived by her husband and parents as well as a number of brothers and sisters. She was thirty-five years of age and had made her home in this city until her marriage last year, and she has many friends here who will mourn her loss in a most sincere manner.

The funeral will occur on Friday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Newing to conduct the services.

Those who desire to pay their annual dues at this time.

Getting Rid of the Paper.

Joseph Cohen has recently installed in the basement of his store a press for baling the paper that accumulates in an institution of this sort. By this means a hundred and fifty pounds of waste paper can be pressed into a bale that takes up very little room, and when a sufficient quantity has accumulated it can be shipped to a paper or pulp mill where this sort of refuse is made use of. Other merchants who have been in the habit of throwing their waste onto the river bank will do well to follow Mr. Cohen's example.

Going to Stevens Point.

The Elks will take their minstrel show to Stevens Point this evening where they will put it on for the benefit of the Elks lodge of that city. The boys will make the trip to Stevens Point and return in automobiles.

A MAIL BOX AT THE DOOR.

One of the suggestions of the postmaster general for economizing in his department is that the people put up little boxes or other receptacles at their front doors, so that the postman will not have to knock and wait until somebody answers the bell. A great deal of time is wasted by the postman having to wait. It is in the interest of an efficient and economical service to provide these little conveniences. And then, they are not only convenient for the postman, they are also for the people of the house. "There is the mail man," says the housekeeper, with her hands in the dishwater or mixing the dough for the family bread. "Run, Johnny, to the door," and Johnny is down in the back yard trying to find a black cat, but by this time the mail man, thinking no one is at home, goes off with the expected letter from Mary, who is visiting over in Chicago, and so the family is deprived of the pleasure for several hours, simply for the lack of a neat little letter-box at the front door.

The report of the geological survey shows the remarkable growth in the production of natural gas in the United States, the output having risen from $215,000 in 1882 to $54,640,000 in 1908, or 254 times the value 26 years ago. This is a tremendous increase. But the question will be suggested to many minds whether such enormous consumption of natural gas will not soon exhaust the supply. In fact, in one or two localities there have been complaints that during the cold waves of the present winter the natural gas has proved an uncertain reliance for heating purposes, sometimes falling when most needed. A little conservation and more effective regulation might be in order.

The marvelous power of recuperation possessed by the French is already beginning to show the rehabilitation of Paris is beginning. Notwithstanding the damage has mounted in the millions, the people are not discouraged by the vast task before them, but have attacked the problem of restoration without delay and in a spirit of courage, which, indeed, is characteristic of the age, and, in connection with the Gallic buoyancy of temperament, may confidently be expected to work miracles.

Dr. Parsons, the Chicago millionaire who has been giving so much money to small colleges throughout the country, says that on April 14 he is going to have a general squaring up with all the institutions to which he has promised money and that he is going on a campaign of giving that will end only when his millions are all gone. "I intend to be penurious," he says, and he really acts as though he meant it.

The London post office, which is closed from Saturday night to Monday morning, now announces that it will deliver letters on Sunday by telephone. Only, you see, you must write your letter and post it before the post office can telephone it. It isn't at all strange that people are saying it will be much easier to do their own telephoning.

A woman in Los Angeles agreed to a divorce for her husband in consideration of a locket and a fur coat. Even the husband's joy at being free must have been somewhat dimmed by this slight value placed upon his affections.

The whole meat problem might be quickly solved if a lot of the people who are complaining at the high prices would quit trying to live in the cities and betake themselves to the luxuries of farm life.

Stories of the large sums received as tips by New York waiters may yet bring numerous applications for places in restaurants from people who are willing to be haughtily condescending for less money.

A New York organization of wealthy women are seeing that horses are shod free in the slippery weather. Considering the price of leather, it would be well to be a horse.

Another advance in the price of golf balls is announced, but we are glad to be able to assure the public that no immediate increase in the cost of croquet mallets is threatened.

The time is near when the sun and the south winds will do things to the egg market which the whole country will applaud.

If that Halcyon comet was its tail, the universe is going to get out of the room.

Abstaining from meat is one way to buck the beef trust, of course, but what is the poor dog going to do in the meantime?

WILL CHOOSE NEW RULES COMMITTEE

RETAINS THE SPEAKERSHIP

Washington.—The three-day battle for supremacy in the national house of representatives ended Saturday with the deposition of Speaker Cannon from his place of power. With a determination that gave no quarter, the insurgent Republicans, aided by their Democratic allies, shattered the speaker's power, and then turned in and helped the regular Republicans give "Uncle Joe" a rousing and affecting vote of personal confidence.

By a vote of 191 to 155 the house doubled the size of the present rules committee, made it an elective body, and eliminated the speaker from its membership. Then, likewise by a vote of 191 to 155, the house refused to depose Mr. Cannon from the speakership.

Cannon Stakes Speakership. When he had been himself beaten on the question of reorganizing the rules committee, which controls the house, Mr. Cannon offered to yield up also the office of speaker, which he occupies, and permit the election of a successor.

The majority of the insurgents at this juncture parted ways with their Democratic allies, and joining hands with the standstillers, refused to declare the chair of the speaker vacant. Forty-five Republican insurgents voted for the new rule. Only nine voted on record to oust the speaker.

New Rules Committee. Under the terms of the new order of things the house bound itself within ten days to proceed to the organization of a new rules committee of ten members, six of whom shall be Republicans and four Democrats, and to which body the speaker is not eligible.

These members will be nominated by the Republican and Democratic caucuses and elected by resolution in the house.

This new body will take over the reins of power from the present rules committee of five members appointed by the speaker and dominated by his influence. The committee will handle the machinery which grinds out legislation in the lower house.

"There shall be a committee on rules, elected by the house (hitherto the committee of five, like all other house committees, has been appointed by the speaker), consisting of ten members, six of whom shall be members of the majority party and four of whom shall be members of the minority party. The speaker shall not be a member of the committee and the committee shall elect its own chairman from its own members.

"Resolved, Further, That within ten days after the adoption of this resolution there shall be an election of this committee, and immediately upon its election the present committee on rules shall be dissolved."

Texas's Resolution Defeated. Here is the resolution of Representative Thurston, which was defeated:

"Resolved, That the office of speaker of the house of representatives is hereby declared to be vacant, and the speaker is to be elected by the house of representatives."

The construction will begin within a few weeks. The plant when in operation will employ 3,000 men.

Man Drops Dead in a Church.

Youngstown, Ohio.—While waiting at the United Presbyterian church at Second and Corners to be baptized, James Applegate, 65, a wealthy farmer dropped dead of heart failure.

Mr. Applegate went to the church in the best of health and spirits. He was with his family, all of whom were very happy at the thought of Mr. Applegate's baptism.

While he was waiting his turn he suddenly went to the floor and was dead before medical assistance could reach the edifice.

Prison for Legation Attache.

Leavenworth, Kan.—Frederick Taylor Faulkner of Kentucky, second secretary of the American legation at Shanghai, China, was brought back to the federal prison here to serve five years for the embezzlement of $5,000 of Mexican legation funds.

Two Thousand Sheep Drowned.

Evansville, Wyo.—Freshwater rushed down a ravine in Bear river canyon and drowned 2,000 sheep belonging to Peter Olson.

herby declared to be vacant, and the house of representatives shall at once proceed to the election of a speaker." Cannon, it was announced, would be called immediately by both houses to select, respectively, the six Republicans and four Democrats who are to constitute the new committee on rules. The old committee consisted of Speaker Cannon, chairman, and Messrs. Ditzell of Pennsylvania, Smith of Iowa, Republicans, and Minority Leader Clark of Missouri and John J. Fitzgerald of New York, Democrats. Republican Leader Sweeney of Pennsylvania said that "recent events" were "recent" for his party to have decided definitely upon the date of its caucus. Republican Whip Wright thought it would be at an early date. Minority Leader Clark thought the Democratic caucus would meet within a few days. The fact is that both parties to the long and bitter fight were too thoroughly fatigued to have formed any definite plans. Nature was calling first for sleep, and a respite from the long struggle was a necessity.

After five hours of turbulent and unrelenting combat, which the combined insurgents and Democrats led with invincible success against Mr. Cannon and the standstillers, the finale was dramatic in the extreme. Mr. Cannon, confessing his defeat, read a statement in which he defended his course, contended that he had done no political wrong, and offered to entertain a motion to declare the chair vacant and the election of a successor in order.

This is the crux of what he read:

"The speaker has always said that under the constitution it is a question of the highest privilege for an actual majority of the house at any time to choose a new speaker. He again notified the house that the speaker will at this moment or at any other time while he remains speaker enter into conformity with the highest constitutional privilege by any member to vacate the office of the speaker and choose a new speaker, and under existing conditions would welcome such action upon the part of the actual majority of the house so that power and responsibility may rest with the Democratic and insurgent members, who, by the last vote, evidently constitute a majority of this house. The chair is now ready to entertain such a motion."

In accordance with a prearranged plan, which by chance had become known to the speaker's friends, Mr. Burton, a Texas Democrat, offered a resolution declaring the speaker's chair vacant, and amid scenes of wild disorder "Uncle Joe" turned over the gavel to Representative Payne and retired to his room to await the outcome. The Democrats voted solidly to depose the speaker, while all the regulars and most of the insurgents voted against it. Burton's action was regarded even by some of his Democratic colleagues as a big tactical blunder.

The nine insurgents who voted to oust the speaker from the chair were: Gary (Wis.), Cooper (Wis.), Davis (Ill.), Gronna (N. D.), Leonard (Wis.), Lindbergh (Iowa), Murdock (Iowa), Nelson (Wis.), Peindexter (Wash.).

With announcement of the vote of personal confidence in Mr. Cannon a wild whoop went up from the floor and swept the galleries.

SAYS BALLINGER IS WRONG

Washington.—Director F. H. Newell of the reclamation service took the stand Saturday in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation and denied several statements made by Secretary Ballinger to the effect that his bureau had recommended the restoration of lands withdrawn from entry under the Garfield reclamation.

His testimony was largely corroborative of that given by Chief Engineer Davis concerning conferences he and Davis had with Ballinger in March, 1909, at which the latter expressed the opinion that withdrawal made by Secretary Garfield were illegal and that he intended to restore them.

The witness denied the accuracy of statements made by Ballinger in letters explaining his action in restoring water power sites in which Ballinger declared he had done so because the reclamation service had recommended it. Newell said he protested strongly against "throwing back all power sites."

Attorney Pepper questioned the witness regarding the "black tent" affair. Newell corroborated Davis' statement that Ballinger had become angry because he had written a letter to E. T. Perkins, Chicago purchasing agent of the service, suggesting that he resign because he had accepted $500 a month for four months from the Harbison railroad for advertising lands along their line in his "black tent" lecture tour. Newell said the secretary subsequently placed the stamp of approval on Perkins' conduct.

JOHNSON IS SENT TO TOMBS

Colored Pugilist Spends Five Hours in Jail Awaiting Some One to Go His Bond.

New York.—Jack Johnson, world's champion heavyweight pugilist, put up a losing fight in general sessions court here, appearing in answer the charge of a fellow-member of the African race, Norman Pinder, who accuses Johnson of a serious assault, the big pugilist found himself the object of the court's displeasure because the complainant against him failed to appear.

Judge Mulqueen declared that the non-appearance of Pinder and the other witnesses in the case convinced him that the court was being trifled with and forthwith raised Johnson's bail from $1,500 to $5,000, committing him to the Tombs until he raised the larger amount.

After spending five hours in the Tombs jail, Johnson was released by Judge Mulqueen when a friend furnished property for Johnson's bail.

Public Cup is Doomed.

After Sept. 1, 1910, it will be unlawful in Wisconsin to furnish the common drinking cup on railroad trains, in railroad stations, in the public, parochial or private schools and in other educational institutions. The new rule, adopted by the state board of health Jan. 23, 1910, has been given the law's sanction by publication last week in the State Journal, the official state paper, and it is provided that it shall take effect on and after Sept. 1 next.

The board at the same time closed anterior poliomyelitis as a dangerous and contagious disease and made it the duty of every physician called to attend a person afflicted with such disease to report it at once to the proper health officer and to adopt other remedial means. Persons suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis likewise are forbidden to attend school or to act as teachers.

Fine Farm Openings.

"There are chances in agriculture in the Middle West," according to Collier's Weekly. "A young man studying agriculture for four years in the practical next-to-theoretical courses in one of the state universities would be sure of his life-work and on graduation would step out into a job. That is more than the average graduate of an eastern college can do in the overcrowded Atlantic Ocean cities. The dean of Wisconsin's state university received by mail the other day—a typical day—a request to fill three positions, and he was unable to do so because none of his pupils at that time were in shape to take the job. The first was $1,000 a year for an assistant in dairying; the second was $1,200 a year for an assistant in agronomy; the third was $1,800 a year for an assistant in agronomy. Last year there were $50,000 worth of positions which he was unable to supply. These were college positions. There were also something over 100 farm positions as wage earners, whose total value was $30,000 in salaries."

Freddie Beel Drops Out of Public Gaze.

Milwaukee Sentinel.—How about Fred Beel? Is the wonderful little badger going back? They do say that Fred has taken the simple life and has his inclination no longer runs to the strenuous game of the mat. With a gun over his sturdy shoulder and two or three of his bear dogs at his sturdy heels, it is whispered along the news path that Fred is as happy and contented as Rip Van Winkle must have been with a pack of children and faithful Schmeider.

Frederick Bismarck Beel has made money out of the grappling game and he has followed the example of that other sturdy dean of the wrestling, Frank A. Gotch, and saved what money he has made. He owns a farm near Marshfield, Wis., and has enough to keep him the rest of his days. Freddie is simple in his tastes and habits. If he had a million it is very doubtful if he would dress other than as the boy from the farm. The only way you could get much out of Fred was to get him wound up on bear hunting. Then he would keep an opponent waiting while he told you about some exciting adventure he had had with his dogs and a bear.

So maybe Freddie is gradually forgetting about the grappling game and is happy and contented with his dogs and the bears that are to be found there on the old farm. He is one of the funniest little characters the mat game has forced into publicity, and the mat will lose a great little athlete if Freddie really decides that there is more fascination in hunting bears than throwing some man pounds heavier than himself.

WOMEN'S WOES.

Grand Rapids Women are Finding Relief at Last.—It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with aching backs and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. E. H. Chapman, Wisconsin and Ninth Streets, N., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "I suffered from a dull, nagging backache and acute pains across my loins for a long time. If I attempted to stoop or lift, sharp twinges passed through my body and I felt miserable. I had severe headaches and pains in the back of my head and when I arose in the morning, I was very tired. My kidneys were disordered and the secretions gave me great annoyance. I at length read of Doan's Kidney Pills and concluding to give them a trial, I procured a box. I was relieved of my trouble in a short time and I am therefore glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The Quaker Doctor.

—This remarkable physician Wisconsin's leading specialist in chronic diseases of men and women, nervous disorders of children and skin diseases, who visits Grand Rapids every four weeks, and who will be at the Dixon Hotel, Monday and Tuesday, April 11 and 12 in his lecture to women on diseases of children says: "Thirty years experience as a physician has convinced me that more than half the diseases, and nervous disorders of children are caused by worms of which there are more than forty known varieties in the stomach and intestines, and new ones are constantly being found. It is unfortunate that so little attention is given to this subject in Medical Schools, but it is a fact that helminthology or the study of worms is almost entirely neglected in all of them; so that the physician has nothing but his text books to guide him, and they are invariably wrong, including my own,—for I have made many discoveries since its publication. As these statements may surprise you—and to show you the importance of a thorough knowledge of this subject to every physician I shall mention a few remarkable cases that illustrate my point."

Baby Has Tape Worm.

In Two Rivers, a poor little little baby, the child of Carl Ohlenberg, a member of the Life Saving Crew, was brought to me. Doctors said it was dying of consumption, but the father said it ate as much as a grown person; this made me suspicious and a further investigation soon proved that the child had a tape worm, which was removed entire with one dose of medicine. Now listen this baby not yet two years of age, had in its inside a tape worm sixty feet long. No wonder the doctors thought it had consumption.

Said He Was Paralyzed.

In Fond du Lac, James Rabla, aged 10 years was brought to me, said to have been paralyzed for five years, having entirely lost control of the bowels and the bladder, and unable to attend school on account of his affliction. I suspected something else, and a few injections brought away a mass of ascarides, very tiny worms, very irritating to the nervous system and destructive to the blood, and now you ask me what was the result, well his so called paralysis was gone, he had perfect control of himself in a week, and the boy was cured. I had another case exactly like the above in Rhinelander last month.

Said He Had Cancer.

Another remarkable case was that of Charles Russell of Ashland, a newspaper man, who had suffered from pain in his stomach for twenty years, and finally was told he had cancer and must be operated on at once, but fortunately he came to me first, and I relieved him of an enormous tape worm which was the whole cause of his trouble.

Still another case is that of a girl they Thought Had Appendicitis.

Miss Luella Moore of Palmyra, who frequently felt a large swelling near the appendix was brought to me while in that condition, because the mother had been told she must undergo an operation. I found that upon gentle pressure, the ball-like tumor in her side immediately disappeared, and knowing that some tape worms roll themselves into a mass, like a ball, I recognized what was the trouble, gave her one dose of medicine and in less than one hour she passed a large worm, head and all complete in one piece, and lo! her appendicitis was gone. But I could fill this newspaper with my own experiences of this kind, and have the documents in proof of every one in my office. Now what do these cases show, they show just this that a great many people are being treated, and even operated on for diseases they have not got and never had.

"Leland has not wet the bed since the first treatment, and thousands of worms came away. He sleeps well and eats like a thrasher."—Mrs. J. J. Lorens, Hartford.

"My son is perfectly well. He has no more pain in his stomach and no more headaches. Your treatment was indeed wonderful and I cannot express my thanks."—Mrs. John Loomer, Marquette.

"Our boy's daily and nightly troubles are gone, he has perfect control of himself now and has gained four pounds in two weeks."

Mrs. V. Robie, Fond du Lac. "My boy has not wet the bed since your treatment. He eats and sleeps well, and everybody notices his rosy cheeks."

Minnie Borolard, Greenleaf. "I want to say that your treatment has entirely cured my boy. We all hope to see you here again before long; many are waiting to see you."

Mrs. A. Bussard, Medford.

Ganderbone's Forecast for April

I don't think I dwell in overalls, With Nature all around me; And the smiling countryside in thrills Of deep affection bound me. I loved to milk and do the chores Around that simple dwelling, And I didn't give a whoop outdoors How groceries were selling.

I dreamt that I dwell in overalls, With hired men to serve me, And something when misfortune falls To happily preserve me.

I heard the howling of the kine As deep-toned as an organ, And the thrill of ownership was mine, The same as Mr. Morgan.

I dreamt that I dwell in overalls, As all the railroads wait me, And the city and its gloomy walls Were nevermore to haunt me. I lived on something more than crusts, With nothing much to fret me, And I hopped around and dared the trusts To come out there and get me.

April was anciently the second month, and it was entirely satisfactory in that position until the foundation of Rome. This occurred upon April 21, and the Romans found it necessary to keep the day with one of their patriotic parades. After they had lost most of their toes and stopped the parade three or four times, while everybody went in and got warm, they yielded second place on the calendar to February, and shivered April along to balmy weather.

The name is from the Latin Aprilis, or the opener, who was the Roman god of the spring. This was a great pastime with the Romans, and it so deeply impressed itself upon the national life that Aprilis became in time a sort of all around corker of opening Spring or whatever else pertained to the Roman experience. It was a form of humor among the Romans with to say that Aprilis had opened Spring and but a robin or something similarly characteristic, and the weather bureau of that time wholly confused its conjectures to what Aprilis probably had or would draw, which made this branch of the Government a great favorite with the people, instead of something that everybody dreads, as it is with us.

The gentle rain will green the lawn, and seed the Congressmen sent on to prove his usefulness to men will hazard the insurgent lun. The breath of summertime will blow, the sap and poetry will flow, and the farmer will deny his dog to feed that $30 hog.

The playful colt will pirouette And turn the double summered. The festive calf will buck and snort And tip up where his hair is short. The farmer will get in his corn. The meadowlark will wake the morn.

And Pinchot will display the well He got to Papa Roosevelt. For All-Poses! Day you may rejoice to learn that you will have your choice. The first, the sixth and twenty-one have all been beautifully dunce; but of the three it may be said the first is virtually dead, whereas the sixth is something new. It is the day that Peary drew himself erect and said, to-wit: "This is the pole, and I am it." And likewise on the twenty-first another great explorer burst upon that quiet Arctic nook and cried, "Eureka, tally ho!" Just help yourself to either date you care to keep and celebrate. Is matters was which one is set, since nothing has been settled yet.

The first of April Teddy lands Upon the dock at Naples, With lion blood upon his hands, And skins and other staples. He'll then proceed by easy trips To lecture toward New York, And add to Europe's scholarships The study of the stork.

Upon the night of April 8, or some not very distant date, we shall at last with naked eye see Halley's comet in the sky. It will appear to be a streak of living fire and twice as thick as that which Roosevelt was wont to carry when he made his haunt around the capitol. Its head will wave this way and that, and dread will seize upon the people who have not been giving us our due.

Our Uncle John will push his plan To elevate his fellow man, And as the comet closes in, He'll grow impatient to begin. Our Uncle Andy will recall That he has not begun at all To cive, and Uncle Piop himself Will scatter his abundant pelf.

The Rockefeller fund to date Is all there is to demonstrate The comet's usefulness, but wait Until the money syndicate Looks up and sees that awful sign Upon the sky. They'll get in line To square themselves. The trusts will all Go forward to repent, and howl And howl around upon their skins, Imploping pardon for their sins.

And then the cowmen may come around the house and how and hum. He'll lead at this and lead at that, and ask the birthplace of the cat. He'll fiddle here and potter there, and take a sample of your hair. He'll measure you between the eyes, and figure and philosophize. He'll make the acid test for wealth, and ask of everybody's health. He'll count the children and the goats and ask how much you have in oats. He'll kick his shins against his knives, and add and multiply his halves. He'll show his star and stick around, and finally declare his ground and ask the womenfolk their age, and exit bleeding from the stage.

Some fifteen million, it is said, will go to see how many head there are of us, or black or white, or whether we can read or write, and what the plus of women is that no one yet is calling his, and other unimportant facts concerning our domestic acts, when most of us, to all intents, would rather have the 15 cents it costs us per, and do not care how many of us have red hair, or who can read and who can write, so long as simply throwing light upon the matter doesn't make the bachelor spruce up and take the pinning splinter to his heart, or teach lettered folk the art of writing, or as far as we, at least, are competent to see, improve our happiness a bit, but

CONGRESS WILL, AND SO BE IT.

April will chiefly consist of Taft weather, with occasional showers. The moon will be in apogee on the 21st, which will be the last day the hog will jump over it. Mr. Cannon will be storm center.

And then the month of May will come, Of all the months the worst. And forty kinds of hogs will fight To see who saw us first.

This Crook May be a Dangerous Man.

We clip the following from a recent issue of the Lead on Lake Reporter. In an interview with Register of Deeds Parisey he informs us that he has received notice of the operations of the swindler mentioned, as has every register of the deeds in the state. Mr. Parisey also has a description of the man and he tells us that from the information he has received he believes that the man is a desperate character and that when discovered he would not be easily captured. Concerning the man the Reporter says:

Register of Deeds E. T. Markle has received a circular letter from the sheriff of Fremont, Neb., offering a reward of $200 for the arrest of John H. Kline, a man of many aliases, who is alleged to be one of the cleverest swindlers in the business. It is said that he has operated in Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, and Ohio, and it may be that he is now in this state.

His method of working at Fremont, Neb., which is the same scheme that he has pulled off in many other places, was as follows: He came to Fremont about January 21, 1910, and represented himself as wanting to buy a farm. One of the real estate dealers called him to a farm that suited him, and especially so because of its being located near a Catholic church, claiming that his folks belong to that creed. The farm was about thirty-five miles from the county seat.

He made two or three trips back and forth to see his farm and finally came to Fremont having in his possession a deed signed and acknowledged by a notary public at Dodge, Neb., he having forged the notary's name as well as the parties' names owning the farm, to the instrument which was the power of attorney to sell railroad stock. By so doing, he obtained the impression of the seal and was able to have an exact duplicate made. He made arrangements with a real estate man for a loan of $2,000, secured by a mortgage on the farm, drew the money at the bank and has not been heard of since.

As the follow is in the habit of visiting the register of deeds office to look up titles on any property he is desirous for, these officials are warned to be on guard in case he should appear.

He is described as a man fifty-five years old, of medium height and weight, dark complexion, and has the general appearance of an ordinary farmer. He is said to have cleaned up $75,000 in different states in the manner outlined above.

Wants to Find Relative.

While on one of his wrestling tours, Fred Baill of Marshfield met the undersigned in Cleveland, Ohio, and from whom he recently received the following inquiry concerning a long lost relative. He says: "Years ago my uncle, Daniel Vaughn, moved to Wisconsin and that is the last we ever heard of him. He was born in Linnetek, Ireland, and my mother, Mary Jane Vaughn Byrne, has never been able to locate him. Do you know of any one by this name in your locality? Will you kindly mention this to some of your newspaper men to tell the Vaughns in your locality to address me for particulars concerning my uncle as we are desirous of finding him. My address is Dr. J. J. Byrne, 1782 W. 25th street, Cleveland, Ohio.

The Sound Sleep of Good Health.

The restorative power of sound sleep can not be over estimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. L. Southern, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "For a long time I have been unable to sleep soundly, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley's Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock. I eat and enjoy my meals, and my general condition is greatly improved. I can honestly recommend Foley's Kidney Pills as I know they have cured me." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

Ganderbone's Forecast for April

I dreamt that I dwelt in overalls, With Nature all around me; And the smiling countryside in thralls Of deep affection bound me. I loved to milk and do the chores Around that simple dwelling, And I didn't give a whoop outdoors How groceries were selling. I dreamt that I dwelt in overalls, With hired men to serve me, And something when misfortune falls To happily preserve me. I heard the lowing of the kine As deep-toned as an organ, And the thrill of ownership was mine, The same as Mr. Moran. I dreamt that I dwelt in overalls, As all the railroads want me; And the city and its gloomy walls Were nevermore to haunt me. I lived on something more than crusts, With nothing much to fret me, And I hopped around and dared the treats To come out there and get me.

April was anciently the second month, and it was entirely satisfactory in that position until the founding of Rome. This occurred upon April 21, and the Romans found it necessary to keep the day with one of their patriotic parades. After they had lost most of their toes and stopped the parade three or four times while everybody went in and got warm, they yielded second place on the calendar to February. It was April along to halting weather. The name is from the Latin Aprilis, or the opacer, who was the Roman god of pokers. This was a great pastime with the Romans, and it so deeply impressed itself upon the national life that Aprilis became in time a sort of all around corkerew of opening Spring or whatever else pertained to the Roman experience. It was a form of humor among the Roman wits to say that Aprilis had opened Spring and bet a robin or something similarly characteristic, and the weather bureau of that time wholly confirmed its conjectures to what Aprilis probably held or would draw, which made this branch of the Government a great favorite with the people, instead of something that everybody dreads, as it is with us. The gentle rain will green the lawn, and send the Congressman sent on to prove his usefulness to men will hazard the insurgent hen. The breath of summertime will blow, the sap and poetry will flow, and the farmer will deny his dog to feed that $30 hog.

The playful colt will prionette And turn the double summerset. The festive calf will buck and snort And tip up where his hair is short. The farmer will get in his corn, The meadowlark will wake the morn, And Pinchot will display the welt He got to Papa Roosevelt.

For All-Fools' Day you may rejoice to learn that you will have your choice. The first, the sixth and twenty-one have all been beautifully danced; but of the three it may be said the first is virtually dead, whereas the sixth is something new. It is the day that Peary drew himself erect and said, "This is the pole, and I am it." And likewise on the twenty-first another great explorer burst upon that quiet Arctic night and cried, "Eureka, tally ho!" Just help yourself to other date you care to keep and celebrate. It matters not which one is set, since nothing has been settled yet.

The first of April Teddy lands Upon the dock at Naples, With lion blood upon his hands, And skins and other stapes. He'll then proceed by easy trips To lecture toward New York, And add to Europe's scholarships The study of the stork.

Upon the night of April 8, or some not very distant date, we shall at last with naked eye see Halley's comet in the sky. It will appear to be a stick of living fire and twice as thick as that which Roosevelt was wont to carry when he made his haunt around the capital. Its head will wave this way and that, and dread will seize upon the people who have not been giving us our due. Our Uncle John will push his plan To elevate his fellow man, And as the comet closes in, He'll grow impatient to begin. Our Uncle Andy will recall That he has not begun at all To give, and Uncle Piop himself Will scatter his abundant pelf. The Rockefeller fund to date Is all there is to demonstrate The comet's usefulness, but wait Until the money syndicate Looks up and sees that awful sign Upon the sky. They'll get in line To square themselves. The trusts will all Go forward to repent, and hawl And howl around upon their shins, Imploping pardon for their sins.

And then the census man will come around the house and hawl and hum. He'll lead at this and lead at that, and ask the buttupple of the cat. He'll fiddle here and potter there, and take a sample of your hair. He'll measure you between the eyes, and figure and philosophize. He'll make the acid test for wealth, and ask of everybody's health. He'll count the children and the goats and ask how much you have in oats. He'll kick his shins against his calves, and add and multiply his halves. He'll show his star and stick around, and finally declare his ground and ask the womenfolk their age, and exit bleeding from the stage. Some fifteen million, it is said, will go to see how many head there are of us, or black, or white, or whether we can read or write, and what the plus of women is that no one yet is calling his, and other unimportant facts concerning our domestic notes, when most of us, to all intents, would rather have the 15 cents it costs us per, and do not care how many of us have red hair, or who can read and who can write, so long as simply throwing light upon the matter doesn't make the bachelor spruce up and take the pinning spinner to his heart, or teach a lettered folk the art of writing, or as far as we, at least, are competent to see, improve our happiness a bit, but

Congress wills, and so be it.

April will chiefly consist of Taft weather, with occasional showers. The moon will be in apogee on the 24th, which will be the last day the box will jump over it. Mr. Cannon will be storm center.

And then the month of May will come, Of all the months the worst, And forty kinds of bugs will fight To see who saw us first.

This Crook May be a Dangerous Man.

We clip the following from a recent issue of the Fond du Lac Reporter. In an interview with Register of Deeds Parisey he informs us that he has received notice of the operations of the swindler mentioned, as has every register of the deeds in the state. Mr. Parisey also has a description of the man and he tells us that from the information he has received he believes that the man is a desperate character and that when discovered he would not be easily captured. Concerning the man the Reporter says:

Register of Deeds E. T. Markle has received a circular letter from the sheriff of Fremont, Neb., offering a reward of $200 for the arrest of John H. Kling, a man of many aliases, who is alleged to be one of the cleverest swindlers in the business. It is said that he has operated in Michigan, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, and Ohio, and it may be that he is now in this state.

His method of working at Fremont, Neb., which is the same scheme that he has pulled off in many other places, was as follows: He came to Fremont about January 21, 1910, and represented himself as wanting to buy a farm. One of the real estate dealers cited him to farm that suited him, and especially so because of its being located near a Catholic church, claiming that the farms belong to that creed. The farm was about thirty-five miles from the county seat.

He made two or three trips back and forth to see his farm and finally came to Fremont having in his possession a deed signed and acknowledged by a notary public at Dodge, Neb., he having forged the notary's name as well as the parties' names owning the farm, to the instrument which was the deed of attorney to sell railroad stock. By so doing, he obtained the impression of the seal and was able to have an exact duplicate made. He made arrangements with a real estate man for a loan of $3,000, secured by a mortgage on the farm, drew the money at the bank and has not been heard of since.

As the fellow is in the habit of visiting the register of deeds offices to lock on titles on any property he is dickering for, these officials are warned to be on guard in case he should appear. He is described as a man fifty-five years old, of medium height and weight, dark complexion, and has the general appearance of an ordinary farmer. He is said to have cleaned up $75,000 in different states in the manner outlined above.

Wants to Find Relative. While on one of his wrestling tours, Fred Beell of Marshfield met the undersigned in Cleveland, Ohio, and from whom he recently received the following inquiry concerning a long lost relative. He says: "Years ago my uncle, Daniel Vaughn, moved to Wisconsin and that is the last we ever heard of him. He was born in Limerick, Ireland, and my mother, Mary Jane Vaughn Byrne, has never been able to locate him. Do you know of any one by this name in your locality? Will you kindly mention this to some of your newspaper men to tell the Vaughns in your locality to address me for particulars concerning my uncle, as we are desirous of finding him. My address is Dr. P. J. Byrne, 1729 W. 26th street, Cleveland, Ohio."

The Sound Sleep of Good Health. The restorative power of sound sleep can not be over estimated and any ailment that prevents it is a menace to health. J. J. Seathers, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "For a long time I have been unable to sleep soundly nights, because of pains across my back and soreness of my kidneys. My appetite was very poor and my general condition was much run down. I have been taking Foley's Kidney Pills but a short time and now sleep as sound as a rock. I eat and enjoy my meals and my general condition is greatly improved. I can honestly recommend Foley's Kidney Pills as I know they have cured me." Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

Oashier Crowley, of the local banking institution has issued a call for a special meeting of the stockholders of the bank to meet the first of next month. Reorganization has been the slogan of this banking institution for some time, it having been deemed necessary that more local capital was needed for a livelier interest in a banking house here. Plenty of capital can be procured from outside but it is the intent of the present stockholders to get as much from Pittsville and the surrounding community as possible and the people now connected with the bank are frank to admit that it is local capital they want and solicitation of all who are interested in the welfare of a local institution to take stock is made.

A very cozy gathering assembled at Old Fellows hall last night for the purpose of bidding Rev. and Mrs. Thos. N. Hoffman God speed in their new field. Then followed the program interspersed with music by the band. Following this was the response by Rev. Hoffman in thanks and farewell benediction to his congregation in general and the city in whole.

How to Make Chop Suey.

When his sister came home from cooking school and asked him if he had ever heard a recipe for chop suey he didn't like to admit there was anything on earth that he did not know. He was just at that age. So he spared for time by asking what she wanted it for.

It seems that the cooking school teacher had given them the question to investigate for themselves. It was one for which there were many answers, but the girl who produced the best recipe was to receive a little prize of some sort. Her big brother must have found out how chop suey was made, she thought, during some of his trips to Chinatown.

The brother then snatched a wicked smile and said he would write out the best and easiest recipe for chop suey in the world. Next morning he handed her an envelope containing the information. She did not open it until her name was called in the class. Then this is what she read aloud, to the amazement of all, herself included: "Recipe For Chop Suey.—Take a bowl of nice, clean suey and then chop it!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Pleasant Old Legend.

Many years ago, sailing from Constantinople to Marseilles, we passed close under the lee of Stromboli, off the north coast of Sicily. The irreconcilable old volcano was not in active eruption, but from the crater a reddish smoke was rising, while from the fissures in its sides burst now and again tongues of lurid flame. "Ah," observed a sailor—the vessel was an English one—"old Booty is at it again!" So far as I can remember there is a legend that one Captain Booty, a master mariner trading to the Mediterranean in the seventeenth century, became so notorious for drinking and swearing that he was seized upon by the sea and carried off to the interior of Stromboli, from which he has continued ever since to utter profane language by means of tongues of fire and puffs of smoke. This, however, did not prevent the ghost of the profane skipper from frightening his widow, who resided in Lower Thames street, half out of her senses by appearing to her at supper time smoking strongly of brimstone.—London Times.

A Tame Wild Mouse.

I was waiting at the dressing log of the ruffed grouse for the bird to come and perform before me. My place of concealment was in the branches of a fallen dead spruce. I had not been waiting long before a white footed mouse appeared among the branches on the ground almost under me. It was interesting to see how freely he moved from place to place, appearing now here and now there, all the while traveling under the snow, which had many caverns formed in it by the sun, for it was early spring. Another mouse soon made his appearance, and I watched the two for some time as they searched for food. It was not long before one of the mice was nibbling at my shoe, but the slightest movement of my foot, which was resting on the trunk of the tree, sent him scurrying to the shelter of the branches below. By patient advances, however, I was able to touch the little fellow with the tips of my extended fingers, and five minutes later I was stroking his back as you might stroke a kitten.—St. Nicholas.

A King's Old Clothes.

The posthumous sale of the wardrobe of King George IV. of England realized $75,000. Greville, who attended the sale, says that the king "hardly ever gave anything away except his linen, which was distributed every year. There are all the coats he has ever had for fifty years, but wigs, canes without number, every sort of uniform, the costumes of all the orders in Europe, splendid furs, pelisses, hunting coats and breeches. His profusion in these articles was unbounded because he never paid for them, and his memory was so accurate that one of his pages told me he recollected every article of dress no matter how old, and that they were always liable to be called on to produce some particular coat or other article of apparel of years gone by."

Oddest Parasite in Creation.

The royal Bengal tiger is infested with one of the strangest creatures that ever lived. It is said to be a fact easily demonstrated or proved by one who has access to a zoological collection that the web of the foot of tigers of the above named species is inhabited by a bloodsucking insect about the size of a common flea which is a perfect counterpart of a tiger in every particular, shape, claws, tail and stripes included.

Rough Passage.

"I hope and pray," remarked a gentleman as he left the steamer, "that I shall never have occasion to cross the Atlantic again."

"Rough passage, eh?" queried a friend.

"Rough is no name for it. I had four kings beat three times."—New York Sun.

Why She Stayed at the Foot.

Hard on the Eggs.

Tat Lady—Yes, sir; there's the beauty of keeping fowls. If I ever run short of meat or I'm in a hurry, I always fall back on a egg.—London Bystander.

Be true to your word and your work and your friend.—O'Reilly.

Peculiar Optical Effects.

If one places a pinhead up close to the eye and directly in front of it the head of the pin appears transparent and things may be seen as easily through it as through a sheet of bluish glass, the head appearing simply as a large round cloud. If it is placed some what closer no pin or head can be seen at all.

If one goes into a very dark room and puts a lighted candle near the side of one eye very pretty and peculiar effects are observed. A tracer, forming a regular network, can be easily detected, and this is merely the shadow thrown by the candle on the retina of the eye of the small capillary blood vessels between the retina and the cornea.

If one looks to the side of a dim star in the heavens the star appears a great deal brighter than direct vision makes it appear. This is because the light in the indirect view falls on what is known as the "yellow spot" or point of keenest vision. As this is not put directly behind the front of the eye the side glance is necessary. Some people can see stars that way that they cannot perceive at all on direct vision.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Sacred Bath.

The number of queer things the various peoples do in the name of religion are legion, but no sight is more odd than that which may be witnessed on Badkuth, a peak of the Himalayan range in northwestern India. The peak looms 22,901 feet above the sea, and at an altitude of 10,400 feet there is built a shrine of Vishnu overhanging a great tank fed by water from the sacred thermal spring. Annually about 15,000 pilgrims climb the weary path to the shrine, and every twelfth year, when the Kumbh Mela is celebrated, the number increases to at least 50,000. Arriving at the shrine, the pilgrims adore the great idol, liberally feed the Brahman priests and bathe in the sacred tank. This latter performance is slightly startling, as men and women, absolutely nude, plunge into the water with cries of joy and utter a tank is a seething mass of humanity, resembling very much the familiar "wigglers" of an infrequently emptied rain barrel.—New York Times.

Why He Hadn't Tried It.

A party was encamped on the Bear river in eastern Utah, when a prospector came and sang one morning on a mile. He had his jaw tied up and at first seemed inclined to pass on without a word. On second thought, however, he halted and gruffly queried: "How far to Salt Lake?"

"Three hundred miles," "Humph!" "Traveled far?" "About 200 miles." "Get your jaw hurt?" "No; it's just an internal toothache, and I'm a-riding five hundred miles to get it pulled."

We invited him down, and one of the crowd got a piece of string round the tooth and jerked it out as quick as you please. After the overjoyed man had ceased dancing about I queried: "Why didn't you try the string before starting out on such a long ride?" "Best kind of reason, sir. I hadn't nary a string."

The Chief's Error.

Goron was chief of the Paris police when the following incident took place: Lombroso had written a book in 1888 on criminality among women, so runs the story, and when it was finished wrote to Goron to send him "forthwith" some portraits of Parisian woman criminals. Anxious to please the writer, the package was made up and started on its tour to Italy. When the book came out Lombroso sent a copy, handsomely bound, to Goron, who saw his gift acknowledged on the first page. "It was a scholarly book," said the chief, "and would have had a large sale but for an error on my part. The pictures came out of the wrong drawer of my desk. They were not criminals at all, but women who had applied for hucksters' licenses, and a new edition had to be printed to make good a police mistake."

An Exchange of Courtesies.

A couple of men got into a warm argument and finally came to blows. After the fracas a spectator remarked: "A soft answer turneth away wrath, and vice versa. We should all keep polite tongues in our heads. Only last night I heard a very fat man say with a loud laugh to a knowledge friend: 'You, old man, you look as if you'd been riding a barrel!'"

Lets Him Out.

Mrs. Nagger—Oh, James, how awkward! Mr. Smith has come, and now we can be thirteen at table. Mr. Nagger—What then? Mrs. Nagger (with a shriek)—Why, one of us will die before the year is out! Mr. Nagger (brutally)—Never mind, I'm tough.—London Pick-Me-Up.

A Cute Child.

"Every time the baby looks into my face he smiles," said Mr. Meekins. "Well," answered his wife, "it may not be exactly polite, but it shows he has a sense of humor."

Gallant.

Beautiful Widow—Do you know, I am forty years old today. Gallant Bachelor—Madam, you are just twenty. I never believe more than half of what I hear.

Reckless Driving.

"What is the matter with your wife? I see she's got her hand in a sling." "Reckless driving!" "Horse?" "No, no."

Church Plans Accepted.

At a meeting of the building committee of the Congregational church on Thursday, plans for the new edifice were looked over and accepted. The plans are by Chandler and Park, who are well known in this city. The building of this church will do much toward improving the appearance of the east side river bank south of the bridge.

The Sweet Use of Adversity.

You can wear out your old clothes. You are not troubled with visitors. You are not persecuted to stand sponsor. Begging letter writers will let you alone. Impostors know it is useless to try and bleed you. You can practice temperance. You are not foolishly flattered. You save many a debt and many a headache. Finally, if you have a true friend you'll find it out.—Life.

The Money of the World.

Of the world's stock of money seven billion dollars is gold, three and one-half billions silver, and four and one-third billions uncovered paper.

Why Kettles Sing.

The reason a kettle "sings" is a very simple one. As the water gets hot little bubbles of steam are found at the bottom of the kettle. These in their rush upward strike the sides of the kettle and set the metal it is made of in vibration, thus causing the humming sound we call singing. You will notice a copper kettle, which has thin sides, will make a much louder and more musical note than a common iron kettle.

Futile Dreaming.

"Everybody has some dream that recurs frequently," says an eminent physician. "Every little while we dream that we have been able to save about two dollars out of our week's salary. But it doesn't seem to help us any."
